BIEN CHOISIR · MATIÈRES

Coton ou pas coton ? Le guide des matières

Chaque fibre a ses atouts. Voici comment elles se classent — et au moindre doute sur le bon choix pour votre métier, notre équipe vous conseille.

1 Les fibres naturelles

Coton : Très respirant, doux et absorbant, grand confort. Ne fond pas face aux étincelles.

Lainage : Pour l'hiver : isole du froid tout en évacuant l'humidité.

2 Les fibres synthétiques

Polyester : Robuste, résistant à l'usure et à la décoloration, sèche vite et ne rétrécit pas.

Polyamide (Nylon) : Très haute résistance à la déchirure et à l'abrasion.

Élasthanne (Spandex) : Apporte l'élasticité et le confort « stretch ».

3 Les mélanges de matières

Polyester / Coton : Le compromis le plus courant : respirabilité du coton + durabilité du polyester.

Coton / Polyester : Confort supérieur (coton dominant) tout en conservant une bonne robustesse.

4 Textiles techniques & protection

Kevlar : Extrêmement résistant aux coupures et aux températures élevées.

Modacrylique : Pour les vêtements ignifugés (chaleur et flammes).

Softshell : Multicouches : respirant, coupe-vent et imperméable.
